Belfast 24 Dec. 1845

My dear Friend. The Books came agreeable to your direction - the getting letters from such persons as your name is a wise suggestion and I have already adopted measures to obtain them, Dr. Breen of this place - an episcopalian Minister has read the narrative and speaks of it in the highest terms of approval - a letter may be obtained from him I know. There is also a presbyterian minister here the Rev. Mr. Nelson who I know would be happy to aid me with a letter. There will no difficulty in getting letters if they are needed. I suppose they might be used in a part of the remaining 1,000 if sent forthwith, could they?

Another fine meeting here last night crowded to overflowing - in the Independant Chapel - I hold another on Friday next - the Books go off grandly A very kind Quaker lady a Mrs - Wakefield I believe her name is has taken the sale of them in hand they must go - in such hands - Let us have the pictures as soon as you can I wrote yesterday to your friend at Bristol - He is evidently of the right stamp. - I got a letter last night from friend Buffum, he is now in London and proposes to join me - if I wish him to do so. I shall write him to day - and request him to meet me in Glasgow as early as the fifth of June next - if it will suit his convenience to come. I must see more of Joseph Sturge before I can write more of him.

I wrote yesterday to Thornton counselling him to stand fast. My love to all the family -

Truly yours
